Votes Confidence in Weizmann and Sokolow

Vote to Receive Executive's Report is 146 to 67—Mizrachi Solidly Vote No Confidence, Socialists, Zeirie Zion, Poale Zion and Gruenbaum Group Abstain from Voting

GOLDBERG AND ROSENBLATT DEFEND AGENCY AND AMERICAN PROPOSALS AGAINST CHARGE OF BRANDEISISM

Carlsbad (J. T. A.)—The warmly contested question at the Thirteenth Zionist Congress of giving a vote of confidence in the Weizmann-Sokolow leadership terminated to-day in a meagre victory for the administration when the assembly vote of 146 to 67 voted to express its thanks to the administration for its achievements. By a second vote of 147 against 72, the Congress decided to "place on record" the reports of the Jewish Executive headed by Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Zionist Organization and Nahum Sokolow, Chairman of the Executive Committee, respectively.

Louis Lipsky, Chairman of the American Delegation, and one of the Vice-Chairmen of the Congress, was in the Chair when the vote of confidence issue was brought up for a decision. He announced that owing to the want of agreement among the Permanent Committee, that Committee had decided to present no resolution itself on the question but to permit the various groups to submit their reports individually.

Berl Katzenelson, representing the Union of Young Zionists, declared that his delegation of 35 felt there was much to criticise and also some to condemn in the record of the administration. They suggested the Congress "place on record" the report of the presidents of the Congress and of the Executive.

Herman Struck, the German artist and Mizrachi leader, who spoke for the Mizrachi group acknowledged the Executive's success with the Keren Hayesod or Foundation Fund but criticised the political work of the leaders, particularly for their failure to make the religious needs [illegible] The Mizrachists voted as a solid [illegible] It was this solid Mizrachi vote which resulted in [illegible] against the leadership.

REVIEW JUNIOR SECTION

Have you heard? Have you seen? Have you told all your friends? About what? Why, about the REVIEW Junior Section contest of course! Because it's going to be stacks of fun. But we're the sort that believe in that good old motto:

Good, better, best—
never let it rest
Till your good is better,
And your better best.

and so we want our page to be the meeting place of not only a few of the Canadian boys and girls but ... all of them. We have already received three or four contest entries that we are saving for a special issue. Don't forget though, that there's still heaps of time for you to submit your contributions. Address them to Cousin Judith or Cousin David, c/o CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW, 310 Bay Street, Toronto. The rules are as follows:

1. Entries must be written on one side only of paper.

2. Contestants must be under fifteen.

3. Parents of contestants must be subscribers to the REVIEW.

We have an exception to rule three, to the effect that children who are in orphanages or institutions of a like kind are eligible as contestants.

Ready . . . Now go! Let's have stacks of entries!

Cousin David.

Dear girl cousins and boy cousins:

Which, of course, means every single cousin that we have adopted into the "Cousin Judith-Cousin David" family—how are you all? This is the time of the year when we all do our very bestest to get away out of the towns into the country . . . and of course, once out into the country, there is only one thing to do . . . and that is . . . to go swimming. Somehow as soon as ever I get into the water, I think me all sorts of funny thoughts about what would happen if in some queer, magic way I was suddenly turned into some sort of a finny-funny creature that's a cross 'twixt a whale and a walrus, with the nervous system of a minnow and the shot-silk Sunday coat of a herring. If that were to happen I wonder whether I'd dive down to the very bottom of the sea to visit Father Neptune in his billowy castle, and whether it would be fun to drop in on Davy Jones. 'Course 'twould be an irresistible temptation to stop at the souvenir bazaar for all sorts of coral knick-knacks to take back up to the "folks." Think of all the thrills! the colours! Because, you know, the creatures down under the sea are the most marvellous things, nay more, they are the most marvellously beautiful of creatures. 'Tis a pity we know so little of the seakingdom. Would any of the cousins care to go a "briny jaunt" with me? Something on the style of Kingsley's little "water baby." We might need a pair of boots, of course, but there aren't any to be had, so in lieu of one of those modern de luxe, we can take this little poem of Walt Whitman's which you will find somewhere on this page. And then after we get back, we'll all collaborate, and write whole volumes, and volumes, and volumes about our experiences . . . which, of course, will turn us all into budding authors . . . and we'll live happily ever afterwards with seven pints of raspberry ice cream for breakfast and extra spanks when mum pulls out the tumbly. Does anybody agree?

Cousin Judith

THE WORLD BELOW THE BRINE.

Forests of the bottom of the sea—the branches and the leaves,
Sea lettuce, vast, strong, limber, serpents, strange flowers and seeds,
The thick tangle, the openings and the pink turf,
Different colours, pale gray and green, purple, white and gold,
The play of light through the water,
Dumb swimmers there among the rocks, gluten, coral, grass, rushes,
And the allment of the swimmers.
The sperm whale at the surface,
Blowing air and spray,
Or disporting with his flukes,
The hollow-eyed shark, the walrus, the turtle, the hairy sea-leopard and the sting ray.

—Walt Whitman

MAIL BAG

Dear Cousin David:

Most of the cousins seem to be writing to Cousin Judith, so I am going to write to you. My father has a large row boat. There is nothing that I like better than to go rowing with him. I can row very well, but not as well as my father. When he rows I have to sit very still. If I do not I may fall into the water. I did fall out of the boat the other day. I did not mind it much for I can swim. Father soon got me back into the boat. When we go out to fish, I row all the time. Father catches the fish. I can not catch any fish. I gave my line and six hooks away. I said to my father one day: "What stupid things fishes are!" He said, "I think somebody else is a little stupid, but he is not a fish."

Moses, the Montrealer.

Dear Moses,

Welcome, Moses! What do you suppose your father meant? And have you changed your mind about the fishes yet? Write again.

Cousin David.

THE WOLF, THE FOX AND LION

Once there was a wolf; he had his house on a hill, he was a good wolf. One day after his breakfast he went for a walk. On the way he met a fox, so they sat down on the grass and began to talk, but after a little while they met a lion, they said "Hello," and the lion sat down to talk with the company, and they were talking just then they heard a loud cry "Mama" they all turned back to see what was the matter the only thing they saw was a little fox who came to his mother because he was sleepy. The little fox went home. In the room where the fox was sleeping they saw something whirling which frightened them. They went to the lion and the fox and the wolf said: "What's the matter? Something was moving in the big fox's bed, so the lion and the wolf and the big fox went to the big fox's house when they got there they went to the bed and picked up the quilt. They were so surprised. What do you think they saw? Some birds sleeping. The lion killed them and the next day they had a big feast. The lion, wolf and fox lived together and were very happy after that.

Sophie Tucker, Age 8.

Editor's note.—What a very blood-thirsty lion, Sophie! Couldn't you let us have another story about birds that sang merrily and where wicked lions could not get at them. Do try again.

Cousin David.

SECRETS OF SUCCESS

"What is the secret of success?" asked the Sphinx.

"Push," said the button.

"Take pains," said the window.

"Always keep cool," said the ice.

"Be up-to-date," said the calendar.

"Never lose your head," said the barrel.

"Make light of everything," said the fire.

"Do a driving business," said the hammer.

"Aspire to gr[illegible]eater things," said the nutmeg.

"Find a good thing and stick to it," said the glue.

The above were taken from the "Boston Post." The following are my own.

"Never be ajar on anyone's nerves," said the door.

"You need a lot of pull," said the door-knob.

"Always get everyone's number," said the telephone.

"Keep your eye on everything," said the needle.

"Be good-tempered," said the steel.

"Never talk yourself out of gas," said the Ford.

"Reflection is the secret of success," said the mirror.

"Get busy," said the bee.

Has anyone else got any advice to offer on this subject?

Jewish Mission

By VLADIMIR JABOTINSKY

Concluded from last week

The old Aryan religion of the Greeks and Romans contained the conception of a Gold Age. Ovid describes it as a perfect society: "An age that knowing no fear of punishment, of its own free will, without any pressure of law, cultivated loyalty and right." But the Greeks and the Romans believed that this Golden Age was behind them—it was the first period of human history passed long ago. Judaism implanted the great truth that the Golden Age is before: not behind us. It dreams of the future and not of the past, and that it is man's duty to effect it. It implants it in the constitution of society as a never-lasting struggle for social improvement.

In dealing with subjects of this nature there is always the danger of being misunderstood, and I would like to avoid this. Let me, therefore, repeat that I have no intention of implying that the difference I point out is the only distinction between the Jewish and Aryan religious conceptions: there are many others. But to me this one is the principal. Nor do I wish to imply that Judaism is totally indifferent to the perfecting of the individual, or that Christianity or Buddhism have no interest in the duties of man towards man and the improvement of society. I only state that while Judaism emphasizes the social idea, Aryan religions lay the main stress on the individual soul. Nor do I ignore that the idea of reward and punishment in future life has been accepted by our own post-Biblical Scriptures, and has become part and parcel of the Judaism of to-day. I only state that this idea does not occur in the Book which is the source and foundation of Jewish teaching, and that accordingly it plays even to-day a much less considerable rôle in the religious mentality of the Jews than of the Aryan. My aim is only to prove the truth which can be put into the following formula. All religions strive to the perfecting of both the individual and the society, but whereas Aryan religions attempt to create perfect society through the improvement of the individual, Judaism considers the formation of a perfect society, based on perfect justice, as the preliminary condition for the development of the perfect individual.

Now we strive to the Mission. Be it religious or non-religious, its objects are obviously those of social improvement. But this is exactly the kind of mission that cannot be carried out by a race in dispersion. If a race as a whole feels itself the bearer of higher social ideas it cannot translate them into life by simply preaching them to other peoples. The only way of giving life to these ideas is example.

Genius—whether it be the genius of a man or of a race—teaches by creation, not by preaching. It may be true that Jewish influence in the public life of various countries is a factor which contributes more or less considerably towards their progress; on the other hand it is equally true that this influence, as a repercussion, creates anti-Semitism and consolidates reaction, so that it is difficult to say whether the net result of Jewish influence on Gentile public life is on the whole a profit or a loss to humanity. But should it even be a profit, how infinitely greater would be the advantage to humanity if the progressive genius of our race, once concentrated within the borders of a national territory, would have created its own model republic, which other nations could then dispassionately study, criticise and emulate!

Once upon a time there was a man named William Shakespeare. He was a playwright, he wrote his own plays. Now imagine what would have happened if instead of writing them he would have given all his genius to improving or editing the plays of his contemporaries. Quite possibly it would have resulted in improving the general level of their production, but in the writings of these forgotten poets we would find here and there scattered little sparks of genius which we now cannot miss in them. But that great work of magic, writings, ideas which is called Shakespeare would never have been created and the net result of English and universal civilization would be a terrible loss.

MONTREAL

Young Lochinvar may have come out of the west but he had nothing on the five and twenty sun tanned, bare-kneed campers who motored into Montreal à la truck arriving towards dusk last Tuesday after a delightful five days' trip through glorious country. The girls—all of them between the ages of fourteen and eighteen—were from Camp Avance, Brantford, Vermont, a camp of some seventy-two girls under the directorship of Mrs. Strakosch. Accompanied by two counsellors, Miss Myrtle King and Miss Jane Shoner, they arrived attractively besweatered and bloomered at the Y.W.C.A. on Dorchester Street West where they spent the night. Wednesday morning, however, the counsellors got in touch with Miss Leah Frank of the Baron de Hirsch Institute, and through her they were introduced to the Young Lady who turned out to be the 1923 version of ye olde time Fairy Godmother, and ye Lady Bountiful-de-Luxe, who conjured up all sorts of magical wonders. First there was a hilarious sight-seeing tour, not in the yellow rubber-neck bus of tourist fame, but in the self-same truck which joggled them all together in the manner to which they had all become accustomed long ere they reached Montreal. After "doing" the city there was a scramble to the summit of Mount Royal—a hard climb but most decidedly well worth while because of the view and the peanuts to be had on high. The Fairy Godmother had two things up her sleeve—figuratively speaking, of course, because being a fashionable young lady her dresses are minus sleeves. However!!! Firstly, she arranged with Mr. Adolph Gardner, president of the Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity, to have the campers stay at the Frat House, Wednesday night. Too much cannot be said of the kindness of Mr. Gardner, Mr. Max Bernfeld and Mr. Merlin Druckquer, who did all in their power to make the girls feel at home.

Secondly, this Fairy Godmother after a few telephonic minutes of black magic secured special bargain-sale rates at the Yellow Tea Pot Inn for our party of twenty-five who arrived at the Inn so attractively radiant in their trim middy-bloomer outfits as to create an atmosphere all their own that vied with the charms of the golden dragons and the purple flamingoes. After a plentiful meal Lady Bountiful—episode the third—started the merry company to the Allen Theatre. More magic! Brief curtain talk with the two managers and Lady Bountiful. Result, the campers, all of them, were invited as the guests of Mr. George Rossky to attend to witness an altogether charming production of "Dulcy." Which just shows that the female of the species is not more deadly than the male. In other words that Mr. George Rossky of the Allen Theatre can play the part of Fairy Godfather extremely well. Course the campers were seated at and watched about as they stood in the theatre lobby. Miss Strakosch, who would be remarks "Where are those girls, the Canadians?" at which the entire audience of the evening was overcome by the modern equivalent of the mumps, namely the swelled head.

Do the Zionists Measure Up to Zionism?

Nisht Geshtoigen und Nisht Gefloigen

The Jewish Morning Journal of New York in its issue of August 15th, prints a special article from its Canadian correspondent, which bears the caption "Fleeing from Canada."

In it the writer states that "thousands and thousands of Jewish business men, workers and professional people are fleeing from Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg. That in Montreal there is a long line-up of Jews in the office of the United States immigration department, who wait for days to receive permits to leave the country." In questioning these people the correspondent stated that he found them to be people who were formerly wealthy, and influential in communal affairs, so wealthy that they owned limousines, lived in apartments for which they paid from $400.00 to $800.00 monthly rental, and employed a retinue of servants. These thousands upon thousands of Jews, now having lost the money they made during the war and reduced to desperate straits, ashamed to remain in Canada in their present poverty, are fleeing to the United States where no one knows them, to start life over again.

We do not know where the Jewish Morning Journal correspondent gets his facts, especially as far as Toronto is concerned. From our knowledge of Toronto, there is not an iota of truth in the statements of the correspondent. We do not know of a single Jewish merchant or professional man, who has left Toronto for the United States because he was accustomed to pay from $400.00 to $800.00 a month rent, drove in limousines and had servants, and is now ashamed to live in Canada because of his failure in business. What is true of Toronto is undoubtedly the case in Montreal, Ottawa, Hamilton and Winnipeg. We have never heard of "the fleeing exodus of thousands and thousands" concerning which the writer speaks so alarmingly. Surely we who live in Toronto, and whose correspondents are located in the large and small cities of Canada where our paper circulates, would by this time have gained at least an inkling of this terror.

There are only 150,000 Jews in Canada. If thousands upon thousands are leaving daily, it stands to reason that it would not take long to drain Canada of her Jewish population. All indications are that the 150,000 Jews are still here and more are coming from the United States and some even from Europe.

The statements of the correspondent are so far from the truth that they sound like the ravings of a highly imaginative brain, probably under the influence of bad "hooch" (shame on Montreal!), which the correspondent, who must be a poor drinker, imbibed at a high society party or some other similar haunt.

Where did the correspondent get the idea that anyone leaving for the United States required a permit? There are no visas or passports required to enter the United States by citizens of Canada, and vice versa. It is true that Canadians seeking work in the United States are required to pay a head tax before they can make application in the ordinary course. But this is never paid on Canadian soil. It is usually collected by the United States Immigration Inspectors on the train or at the border. Furthermore, those who have lived in Canada a year are also eligible for admission to the United States without permits.

The Morning Journal correspondent [illegible] Canadians [illegible] Jewish workers in Canada are engaged in the needle industry, whose wages are standardized by the union rate, which is practically the same in Canada as it is in the United States. Though business conditions have been none too good in Canada, and assignments have been more numerous than is usual, the Jewish merchants have not been affected any more than non-Jewish merchants. Business has been going on as usual. The rate of Canadian exchange is extremely low to-day, indicating that business conditions are better. Hence there is no cause for the sudden alarm. In fact business conditions in Canada during the last two years have been much more stable than in the United States where the sudden and monstrous fluctuations of depression and prosperity have been the unmaking of business. Canada is always six months behind the United States in reflecting business conditions, and hence the fluctuations do not bring with them the same high and low points.

According to assurances given by the Canadian Minister of Immigration, many of those who left Canada in search of higher wages in the U. S. A. are now returning. The Canadian government is also exerting efforts, through its immigration officials in the United States, to induce the French-Canadians, who are the worst offenders in this regard, to return. Recently even the Catholic Archbishop of Quebec issued a letter to the French-Canadians in the United States, urging them to return home and encouraging those here to remain loyal to their traditions by staying in Canada. The immigration statistics indicate that not only is the return movement of Canadians to Canada growing, but that many United States farmers are selling their farms and coming to Canada because of the prevalence of good, cheap land. In spite of what we have said above, we do not wish to give the impression that all is well with Canada. This country has been just a big sieve for the U. S. A. Millions of Canadians, native-born and others, reside in our neighbour's country. But this is an old and aggravated condition, which we believe only a wide open immigration policy can solve. Only through increased population can Canada obtain and secure permanent prosperity. But about this some other time.

Meanwhile, the Morning Journal's correspondent, who like Rip Van Winkle slept his forty winks, wakes up and sends what he imagines is a great news "scoop" to his paper, telling the world of a Jewish exodus from Canada to the United States. The fact is that Canada has thousands of Jews who came in from the United States and who have found in Canada a genuine opportunity for development. Many of these came here as workers and are now leading and prosperous merchants and manufacturers. The needle industry is almost exclusively the outgrowth of such immigrants. Canada is a land of glorious opportunity for Jewish immigrants. In many senses it offers even better opportunities than does the United States. Would that Canada's doors were open to Jewish immigration! Unfortunately they are closed. It would be well for as many Jews as can percolate through the Canadian sieve to come here.

The Morning Journal, we feel sure, did not intend to spread malicious gossip in the form of authoritative information about Canada. It has harmed its own reputation by printing such wild news without first ascertaining from reliable sources its authenticity. Its own American readers were undoubtedly puzzled to read the news. Its Canadian readers rubbed their eyes in amazement, and can wonder if the Morning Journal's other foreign news [illegible] as unreliable as its "American news." It would be well for the Morning Journal to correct the

We like to believe that we are neither anti-Semitic nor pro-Semitic, preferring to regard ourself as a very plain human being. Usually we succeed, except at flat-renting time, and particularly at flat-renting time in Toronto. In Toronto the landlordial ignorance with regard to Jews is matched only by the unmistakable desire on the part of Gentile tenants not to live above, below or next to Jews, with the result that we have surprised many a landlord or agent into a hymn of hate by the simple expedient of leaving our beard and prayer-cart at home and assuming the disarming disguise of an ordinary citizen. The effect on the Gentile [illegible] was the magic touch of alchemy. He assures us happily that one thing we don't need to be afraid of on any of his property is Jews for neighbours. Then when he notices that we hastily scribble the [illegible] and while trying to remember how much he has just said, he stammers out an assurance that we don't look or act like a Hebrew [illegible] the impression changes to one of chagrin and deep annoyance as though we had sneaked in on him in a tricky manner instead of approaching properly under the sign of the pawnshop wearing a mask made with a huge beak nose. We leave him probably saying that we behaved just like a Jew and determine to ask the next man openly whether he wants a Jew or not—at our own time, and both of us grief. By this time we have become abnormally race-conscious and this disturbs us even more. Before we get there we know that the agent or landlord will say that he does not rent to Jews—that he personally doesn't mind, some of his best friends are Jews and some Jews are all right, but the tenants seem to mind for some reason or other, we must see that exclusion or limitation of Jews is necessary as a business proposition. But we are overjoyed with a realization of how great the pressure must be from Gentile tenants to Gentile landlord to maintain an exclusiveness policy and as we go from apartment house to apartment house in the most thorough canvass we have ever made for a place to live in, we become angrily, childishly, violently pro-Jewish and furious at the unreasoning prejudice of all Gentiles for all Jews. Finally, at the end of a weary day, when we have been driven, temporarily at least, from the lofty expanse of internationalism into the narrow lane of race-antagonism we ask our favourite real-estate man to take us to some apartment house in the Jewish district. He complies without visible enthusiasm, and in response to him—[illegible] to put the finishing touch to our case when he says: "Say, you wouldn't want to live here with all these Jews."

"The whole art of teaching is only the art of awakening the natural curiosity of young minds for the purpose of satisfying it afterwards, and nothing else is worthy of the name of education. In proportion as the mind is stifled and tortured it is crammed by force into the ruts of the past, it is dead, and stinks. Intelligence [illegible] must have been swallowed with a good appetite. If you only were interested in my plan, I should make it her—that learned woman, for I should like to see the future mistress [illegible] a child of bright intelligence and [illegible] a warm passion for learning in whose nature will [illegible] the great masters of thought. BNAI BRITH SUMMER CAMP BOUNDARY PARK Season, 1923

The camp was founded in 1920 by the lodge with the object of providing poor Jewish boys and girls of Winnipeg and surrounding district with healthy recreation amidst congenial surroundings for about ten days under the supervision and guidance of capable young men and women.

The camp committee is headed by Mr. Lester Rice. Assisting Mr. Rice in this work are some of our best Jewish business men.

The camp is situated half way between Boundary Park and Sandy Hook on the main road from Winnipeg Beach. The bathing beach here is ideal for children.

The grounds surrounding the camp are level and grassy, facilities being provided for such games as football, baseball, volleyball, tennis courts and track.

The main building is airy and roomy with plenty of light. The two largest rooms which occupy the centre of the building are used as reading and dining rooms. At each side of these are the main dormitories, each of which is capable of accommodating at least seventy five children. The whole of the outward walls are open and screened.

The large airy kitchen is located in the rear of the building.

Around the main building are a number of tents—the supervisors', First Aid, stores, maids' and caretaker's.

The routine of the camp is varied every day.

At seven o'clock each morning, the children are awakened and taken out for a dip and then given light physical exercises. At 8.15 a.m., breakfast is served after which the children are allowed to themselves, either to read the books provided for them or to join in the many games arranged by the supervisors. At 11 a.m., the children are again taken for a dip and at 12.30, lunch is served. During the afternoon, sports are indulged in and occasionally nature study hikes are arranged for. Supper is served at 5.30 p.m. At twilight the big bonfire is lit and around which the children assemble and join in a community sing-song. Nearly every evening the supervisors provide some interesting as well as some educational entertainment in the way of talks on various subjects. Impromptu concerts and mock trials are very often part of the evening's programme.

The camp supervisors consist of Mr. M. Wintrobe, B.A., who is the president of the Manitoba Menorah Society and Mr. N. Greenburg, who is Scoutmaster of the 19th Winnipeg Jewish Troop.

Assisting them gentlemen in a voluntary capacity and in charge of the girls are Miss Esther Simenstin, R.N., and her sister, Miss Goldie Simenstin who is a school teacher of Edmonton.

B'NAI BRITH PICNIC

The annual picnic of the Winnipeg Bnai Brith lodge took place on August 5, at the Bnai Brith Camp, Boundary Park, about 300 members and friends taking advantage of the fine weather to enjoy the excellent programme provided by the picnic committee.

The grounds were prettily decorated for the occasion, many additional tents being put up as extra accommodation for the visitors.

The principal attraction of the day was the sports programme under the chairmanship of Mr. W. V. Tobias, assisted by Mr. L. E. Abremovitch, Mr. L. E. Tapper, Mr. L. Rice, Mr. Weintraub and Miss Simenstin.

as merchandise is a misnomer. Can a printed label be compared with an axe, for instance? The refreshment stand was ably taken care of by Dr. Zilz, assisted by Mrs. Abremovitch, Mrs. Green and Mrs. Rise. The arrangements were successfully carried out. Mr. E. M. Goldsmith took entire charge of this affair.

The thanks of the committee are due to the many ladies who provided cakes, Mr. C. Smithin, for the many donations he secured, Mr. S. Berg for his good work in securing excellent prizes for the races and Mr. L. Rice for his general assistance.

JEWISH KIDDIES ENJOY CARNIVAL

Approximately 30 youngsters of the Jewish Orphanage, ranging from 7 to 9 years, were the guests of the Johnny J. Jones Carnival, which is now showing at the North Main Street lot. Through the courtesy of Johnny J. Jones' "hard boy," Ed. Slater, the kiddies were treated to a rare time. The miniature merry-go-round and Ferris wheel were at the disposal of the youngsters. Ice cream, soda pop, peanuts and other picnic "foods" were given to the children in plenty.

This has been an annual event with Johnny J. Jones, who, through Ed. Slater, carried the invitation to the kiddies at the orphanage.

JEWISH BLOODSHED TO FOLLOW SOVIET FALL

Riga (J. T. A.)—Representatives of all Jewish parties everywhere in Russia feel that if by any chance the Bolshevist régime should collapse, it would mean the massacre of all Jews.

Although Bolshevism has brought about the economic ruin of the Jewish population, a counter-revolution is dreaded by all Jewish leaders, the Jewish Telegraphic Agency investigator gathers from conversations with spokesmen of all shades.

The scourge seriously menacing the safety of the Jewish population, particularly in the Ukraine, are the robber bands still infesting that section. Although less numerous than previously, they are still felt and feared. The population on the whole fears political banditism more than criminal, since the political bandits usually attack the Jews exclusively on the pretext that the Jews are Bolsheviks.

In each district in the Ukraine, the richest citizens have been appointed as "otwetschke" or spokesmen who are answerable with their heads for the discovery of robber bands among them. These otwetschke are bound to report the appearance of bandits.

Such bands have recently appeared in Alexandrovka and Kaminka, where banners were carried, reading, "Down with the Jews and Communists." The dangerous feature of the banditism is that they are protected by peasants who side with them when pursued. In certain places, rich Jews have been included among the otwetschke which, Russian leaders declare, is absurd since the bands bulk all Jews as Communists. The post of an otwetschick is an extremely hazardous one as they are made responsible for the appearance and failure to report of any brigands.

AMERICAN DEMOCRACY UNITES JEW AND CHRISTIAN, SAYS CANON CHASE

New York, (J. T. A.)—"The followers of Jesus are under solemn obligation not to destroy the Jewish religion but to unite the Jews unto themselves by bonds of sympathy and love for the accomplishment of God's purposes on earth," said the Rev. William Sheafe Chase, D.D., rector of Christ Church, Befdord Avenue, Brooklyn, in his sermon Sunday morning on "How to Unite Jew and Christian."

"This is one of the great tasks," he continued, "that Jesus has placed on His church today. It is therefore our duty to consider what we can do as Christians to unite in friendly co-operation with the Jews for the establishment of God's loving will on earth.

"We should emphasize the things on which the Jew and Christian are agreed, and postpone the aggressive discussion of the things on which they differ until more friendly relations between them have been established.

"Another method of uniting Jews and Christians is by emphasizing American ideals of law, liberty and democracy and seeking to unite citizens in a great movement to put God and our country above private, sectarian and racial interests.

"The Jew and the Puritan were the greatest friends of the Sabbath. The difference of the day on which the Jew and the Christian celebrate the Sabbath ought not to prevent Jew and Christian from co-operating to protect the Sabbath from unscrupulous business."

Warsaw, J. T. A.—The delivery for dissection of Jewish dead unclaimed by relatives or friends has been ordered by the Health Ministry. The order has been received by the Jewish burial society, "Chesed Shel Emeth."

MAYOR DIZENGOFF RETURNS TO TEL-AVIV

New York (J. T. A.)—Mayor Dizengoff of Tel-Aviv, who spent almost two months in the United States in the interest of the Tel-Aviv bond issue, sailed on the Majestic Saturday on his way home. The issue was floated by Bernard A. Rosenblatt, a member of the present Jewish Executive, with Harvey Fisk and Sons as the fiscal agents.

The first Mayor of the first Jewish city said he was pleased with the success of the bond issue of £75,000 which was completely taken up. Mr. Dizengoff urges the organization in this country of a clearing house for Palestine securities. He expects to return to America in December with a view to establishing such an office in New York.

ONE ARAB PRISONER KILLED, ONE WOUNDED IN FLIGHT FROM JAFFA PRISON

London (J. T. A.)—One Arab prisoner has been killed and one wounded, while the third has surrendered, thus bringing to an unsuccessful end the attempt to escape from the Jaffa prison, according to a report today to the "London Daily Express."

The prison guards on learning of the disappearance of the prisoners traced the men to the orange groves near Jaffa, whither a detachment of two officers and eight policemen were sent to recapture the prisoners. Fighting ensued between the prisoners and their pursuers with the result that one was killed outright and the other wounded.

HEBREW NATIONAL ASSOCIATION

At an executive meeting held at the office of the Hebrew National Association, 410 Dundas Street West, W. Handelman, vice-president, presided. Mr. Scher, president of the Association, while on his vacation at Muskoka Lakes visited all the Jewish patients at the Muskoka Sanitarium. Dr. Kandell, head of the sanitarium, promised to do everything for the Jewish patients in the future as in the past.

On Sunday, August 12th, Mr. Scher, president, Mr. Lent, treasurer and Mr. Wisefeld, executive member, visited the Whitby Asylum where they had a personal interview with Doctors Crawford and Webster of the Asylum and they promised to send full report to the Association of patients and to furnish reports on patients ready to leave the Sanitarium, to let them out on three months' probation with the Association's bonds. One patient at the institution for over three years is well enough to be taken out on probation and bonds are being looked after by the Association. Another case concerns a father's appeal to have a daughter taken out from the Hamilton Asylum. This was thoroughly investigated by the Association's representative, Mr. J. Rose. Mr. Rose also reports that the following are patients being cared for by the Association: General Hospital 19, Western 9, Grace 2, St. Michael's 2, Western Sanitarium 10 and 28 at Queen Street Asylum. Two more city orders were granted for admittance to the hospital. A Bnai Brith delegate, Mr. J. Ceiman, Spadina Avenue, was welcomed by the president, Mr. Scher, by whom a synopsis of the work was outlined. Mr. Ceiman affiliated with the Association and gave a short address. Mrs. Greenberg will have charge of the sale of tickets distributed by her for the coming benefit to be held in October at the Standard Theatre.

GEDDES URGES KOSHER IMMIGRATION STATION

London (J.T.A.).—In a report on the conditions on Ellis Island, prepared for the British Government by Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States, the establishment of a special station for those requiring kosher food is recommended.

There are twelve recommendations offered by the British ambassador. The one referring to the kosher question is as follows:

"Provide a new station for those requiring kosher food or, alternatively, let Ellis Island be the 'kosher' station and provide a new station for the rest."

The ambassador finds fault with many things on the Island, but points out that the heterogeneous mass of humanity representing all races and conditions of life naturally makes the problem difficult.

Speaking on this point, the report of Geddes says:

"They speak many tongues and dialects. They are all—lady, prostitute, mechanic, rabbi, and what not—all frightened, nervous, shy and strange to their surroundings. They are quite ignorant, too, of what is expected of them and have no conception of what is going to happen to them."

The report also recommends the introduction of more cleanliness, the improvement and painting of many of the buildings, to expedite the handling of the immigrants, especially in the matter of appeals.

One of the recommendations urges the abandonment of "the quaint custom of delivering lectures on Americanization to criminal and other deportees." "Strangely," says the report, "this well-meaning activity seems to be more annoying to its victims than any other single detail in of Ellis Island."

MAIL BOX

AN OPEN LETTER

Rabbi Brickner has received the following letter from Mr. James Watt, Secretary of The Toronto District Labor Council, and is glad to comply with the request and trusts all other Rabbis will do likewise.

Rabbi B. R. Brickner,
Holy Blossom Synagogue,

Sir:—The District Labor Council of Toronto having under consideration the celebration of Labor Day and believing that there is much in the labor movement in common with the religious teachings of the day, that affords sufficient ground for consideration and discussion by those in authority in all religious institutions,—

We therefore extend to you and the other Rabbis of the different synagogues of Toronto a cordial invitation to include in your sermons on the Sabbath preceding Labor Day such reference to Labor and the Labor movement as may seem fitting for the occasion.

In extending this invitation permit me to quote the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor in a message to affiliated bodies bearing on the celebration of Labor Day:

"The Labor movement strives for economic improvement with zeal and fidelity because we believe economic improvement is the first fundamental requisite but that the inspiration of our movement has its deepest springs in something above and beyond the material."

We hope to have your co-operation in drawing the attention of the different Rabbis in Toronto to the above.

Thanking you on behalf of the District Labor Council of Toronto.

James Watt,
Secretary.

DEVONSHIRE REFUSES TO SEE ARAB DELEGATION

London (J.T.A.).—The Arab delegation which had come here to protest the British policy in Palestine, received a setback to-day when the Cabinet committee headed by the Colonial Secretary, the Duke of Devonshire, refused its request for a hearing. The delegation's request is put down as "impracticable" in the official reply.

Following this announcement, Musea Kazim Pasha of Jerusalem, on behalf of the delegation, issued a statement declaring that they represented the bulk of the population of Palestine, protested against the continuance of the present policy in Palestine and reiterated their belief that the establishment of an Arab national government was the only solution to the present difficulties caused, they aver, by the promise to establish the Jewish National Home in Palestine.

ROUMANIA TO TRY HUNGARIAN RABBI FOR TREASON

Budapest (J.T.A.).—Dr. Leopold Kecskemeti, Chief Rabbi of Grosswardein (now Oradea-Mare) has been arrested and released on bail, it is reported, pending proceedings against him by Roumanian authorities on a charge of high treason. The Rabbi was arrested August 4, at the conclusion of his sermon in the synagogue in the course of which he is alleged to have expressed Hungarian sympathies.

Oradea-Mare was previously part of the Hungarian kingdom, from which it was transferred to Roumania under the peace treaty.

MARRIAGES

DONN-COHEN

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Sunday, July 29, at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Cohen, when Miriam, only daughter of the late Mr. Abraham Cohen and Mrs. Cohen was united in marriage to Mr. Max Donn, eldest son of the late Mr. Harold Donn and Mrs. Donn. The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Kaplan. The bride, who was given away by her grandparents, looked charming in a gown of white georgette and lace. Her veil was becomingly arranged in coronet fashion, caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and baby's breath and wore the groom's gift, a string of pearls. The bride was attended by her cousins, Miss Sadie Guttenberg of Detroit, as maid of honor, wore turquoise blue taffeta with silver trimmings and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Miss Marion Pyzer was bridesmaid, dressed in white canton crepe, heavily beaded in crystal. She carried American Beauty roses. Mr. R. Cohen, uncle of the bride, was best man, and Mr. I. Silverman, cousin of the groom, was groomsman. Mrs. Cohen, mother of the bride, was gowned in grey canton crepe with corsage bouquet of sweet peas. Mrs. Donn, mother of the groom, wore black canton crepe with corsage bouquet of sweet peas. The wedding was attended by relatives only. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. Harry Cohen, Niagara Falls, N.Y., Mrs. Ellis Guttenberg and Miss Sadie Guttenberg, Detroit, Mrs. Louis Cohen, New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Forinsky, Goodwood. Do Zionists Measure Up to Zionism?

of the American countries are any criteria, then what is happening in Carlsbad was inevitable. The U. S. A. Zionist Convention in Baltimore last June was characterized by flatness and mediocrity. So was it with the Canadian Zionist Convention in Ottawa a year ago. The movement in these countries is now in the hands of people who mean well enough, but whose qualifications for leadership are twofold—their ability to contribute and their skill at petty politics. It is these factors which determine who shall be at the head of things.

This was not always so. In former years the Zionist movement counted among its active workers many leading academic and professional Jews who had distinguished themselves in their special field of endeavour, or who as merchants had won for themselves a position of leadership in their respective communities. These were fit Worts-führer. Where are these people to-day? In recent years Zionism has won many adherents in high and low places and lost none of its former friends. Why then does the active leadership seem to be in the hands of the least representative people? Why does the Zionist movement in the U. S. A., Canada and England, to speak only of the English-speaking countries, have not active academic youth preparing for leadership, working hand in hand with tried greybeards? The answer is to be found in this: No real attempt has been made to attract and hold the prominent and influential people and academic youth, and to make room for them in Zionist leadership.

"Was not this done a few years ago in the United States," it will be said, "and see how it ended. The Brandeis group were comprised of this very type of people, yet they deserted the movement at a critical moment." To this we reply that the conflict which ended so disastrously at Cleveland was unnecessary and unfortunate as all now acknowledge. Personalities, not principles, were at stake. Even Weizman now acknowledges this. Had more diplomacy and less petty politics been used, the break would never have occurred. One thing is certain; while this group was at the helm the Zionist movement flourished and gained its signal political victories.

It is because we feel the absolute need of the return of such people to the movement as workers and leaders, that we are whole-heartedly in sympathy with Weizman and Sokolow in their desire to draw back into the movement via the Jewish Agency, new and representative forces and personalities of world Jewry, even if it be merely for financial reasons, though we still do not recognize the economic phase of Zionism as the all-important problem of Zionism. In this respect we are heretics and disagree with most Zionists. Weizman and Sokolow are merely following in the footsteps of Herzl, who alone is responsible for making Zionism a world force. We cannot see how their policy can do any harm, and we can point out a dozen things which can come about if Weizman succeeds in winning for the Jewish agency men like Louis Marshall, wherever he can find them. The backbone of every movement are the people who compose it—organization, efficiency, etc., are only secondary matters.

It is pathetic to see the Zionism of romanticism and idealism with its days of intellectual polemic gone. What has taken its place? A Zionism of how to extract more dollars from the pockets of junk dealers and merchants.

It was because Zionism was presented as a movement of romanticism and idealism, as a force for the re-establishment of Palestine and the restoration of Jewish culture in the life of the nations as well as the Jew, that Herzl and his aides succeeded in attracting men of such diversity as Nordau and Rabbi Raines, Zangwill and Struck, Oppenheimer and Warburg, Marmorek and Rothschild, Birnbaum and Gaster, Achad Haam and Neumark, and hundreds of others whose names are household words in millions of Jewish homes.

It is this cry for business and no phrases that is dooming the Zionist movement to mediocrity. It is killing the cultural and educational aspects, without which we are failing to rear a generation of young Jews that will be Zionists. And unless we make Zionists we can have no money for Palestine. The present leaders have put the cart before the horse. Enough of this sort of short-sightedness and more of the old-fashioned Zionism. It is this old-fashioned kind of Zionism which alone can raise the movement from the level of mediocrity to which it has fallen, and which is reflected in the present Congress to a level that is commensurate with the growth and development that Zionism has attained in the world. The Zionists must begin to measure up to the level of Zionism.

false and alarming statements contained in the special Canadian correspondence. We would further suggest that they get a more reliable Canadian correspondent.

Incidentally we would advise the Yiddish Press in New York to pay greater attention to Canadian Jewish news. Canadian Jewry represents a strong and whole-souled group of people, largely east European in origin. Their communal life is constructive in spite of its recency. Last year the Jews of Canada contributed the second largest amount to the Keren Hayesod, and for many months headed the list of Zionist contributions. It would be wise for the Yiddish press to cement the relationship which should exist between the two American Jewries. Canadian Jewry is destined for a great and important growth. For the present, Canadian Jewry is culturally dependent upon their American brethren, yet there are already signs of a developing maturity and independence. It would be well for American Jewry to learn to know Canadian Jewry better. The Yiddish press should act as the medium by paying frequent attention to our doings.

SIEGEL SEES WAY OF CHECKING IMMIGRANT RACING

New York (J.T.A.)—A way for the elimination of the present racing of steamships, each anxious to have its own immigrants given preference within the quota, is suggested by former Congressman Isaac Siegel in a letter to the New York "Times" to-day.

"As long as there seems to be the belief that the quota law is the solution of the immigration question (with which I differ) then the remedy is a very simple one. What is necessary is to provide the entire year the total number may come in regardless of when the immigrant arrives, provided, of course, that he is mentally, morally and physically fit.

"If it were known that once receiving the visa and possessing the other qualifications, the immigrant could come at any time during the entire year, then there would not be the racing scenes which are now being enacted."

Congressman Siegel also takes objection in his letter to a statement published in the "Times" that as many as eighty persons were examined in one minute by a single inspector at Ellis Island.

The "Times" in an editorial on Mr. Siegel's letter concurs in his demand for the elimination of racing, but maintains that its statement anent the rush in which immigrants are examined is correct.

ALLEGE ANTI-JEWISH OFFENSIVE IN POLAND

Paris (J.T.A.)—The Committee of Jewish Delegations here has issued No. 26 of its Bulletin devoted entirely to the Jewish question in Poland.

The forty-eight pages contain much material on the situation giving a complete survey of the most important occurrences in the Polish-Jewish life in recent years. The Bulletin refers to the Polish electoral laws in regard to the national minorities and various illegalities committed during the general election. It deals at length with the relations of the Jews to the previous Cabinet of General Sikorski, and to the present Ministry under M. Witos. Special attention is paid in the Bulletin to the numerus clausus question.

The Bulletin reprints a large number of interpellations put in the Sejm with regard to excesses, persecution of Jews in the army, suppression of Jewish schools, etc., alleging that Poland has systematically violated the paragraphs of the constitution and the international obligations accepted by her in regard to the national minorities under the Treaty of Versailles.

There is a leading article, the "Anti-Jewish Offensive in Poland," and a second article, "Our Attitude Towards the Polish State." The committee explains in this article that it has never conducted and is not now conducting a campaign against Poland, and that the Bulletin is intended to influence directly or indirectly the Polish Government and Polish official circles to put a stop to their anti-Semitic policy.

The committee points out that in 1919, while Jewish blood was being shed in Poland, the committee's motion was against Poland's declaration of independence. The article is reprinted in the present Bulletin.
